First Annual Joyce Environmental Entrepreneurial Solution (JEES) Competition
Students will present the culmination of their year-long work to develop entrepreneurial solutions for solving the potential problem of global warming (on a local scale). These students have worked in teams to develop a feasibility study of their strategies, a plan for implementing and sustaining the business ventures, and justification for their proposal based on the positive impacts their solution would have on the environment. Each team will present their chosen solution to the class’ client, Mr. Hugh Joyce of James River Air and Heating, Inc. At the conclusion of the competition, judges will select the top three teams, who will receive cash prizes and, in the case of the top team, the option to implement their solution with grant funding from Mr. Joyce.

Judges
Professor Joe Mattys, Director of the First-Year Experience
Mr. Hugh Joyce, President and owner of James River Air Conditioning, Inc.

FYEC 261-262 Resistance and Perseverance: African American Identities in Art and Literature from the Civil War to Civil Rights

Professors E. Terrono & J. Haynes
McGraw-Page Library, 1:00-2:15

Students in this FYEC had two culminating projects. In the first semester, under the supervision of Professor Justin Haynes, English, they prepared films exploring the impact of race and black identity in Literature. In the second semester, under the supervision of Professor Terrono, they integrated their knowledge from the literary sources with knowledge on the impact of visual politics in the formation of African American identities and created a website which we will unveil on Research Day.
